Edmonton Placing More Men at Work

In spite of the fact Calgary leads Edmonton in the number of unemployed men, more placements for jobless men were made at the capital city than in Calgary it was revealed in the weekly Alberta employment Service report.

There are 3203 men listed as jobless in Calgary and 3,167 at Edmonton. Only 52 placements were made in Calgary during the past week, compared with 198 at Edmonton. Lethbridge has 415 jobless men, Medicine Hat 306 and Drumheller 164.

Edmonton, however, has more unemployed women than Calgary. A total of 495 women are listed as unemployed in Edmonton, compared with 257 in Calgary. Thirty six placements were made at Edmonton and 42 in Calgary.

A Dramatic Entertainment

A most interesting and enjoyable dramatic entertainment was put on by Madame Theresa Siegal, Calgary, at the Chinook School on Saturday, February 4th. In spite of the cold weather there was a good crowd attending, some coming a long distance to hear her.

Many remarks were passed on Miss Siegal's excellent abilities as an elocutionist. At one moment she caused the audience to rock with laughter, at the next she cast them into a serious mood. The programme to which there were some local musical contributions, consisted of the following items:

Accordian Solo - Miss R. Rasmussen

Davie Burns His Crutches - by Miss Siegal

Ma's Monday Morning - by Miss Siegal

Song "Lassie O'Mine" - by six girls

Black Thunder - by Miss Siegal

Crop Production Not High in U.S.

Washington (AP)—The agriculture department, in its final crop report of the year, said yesterday that on a per capita basis the level of the United States farm production during 1938 was not high.

"With crop production this year placed at 104.8 per cent of the 1923-32 or pre-drouth average and population at 109.6 per cent of the average for that period, crop production per capita would appear to be at least 4 per cent lower than in the pre-drouth period," the crop reporting board said.

Canada and the Next War

If there are two questions more than any others more frequently on the lips or in the background of the minds of the great majority of Canadians, and have been since the crisis of September 1938, they are these: "When is the next big war likely to break out?" and "When it does, will Canada be in it?"

The first question presupposes the opinion that sooner or later—and generally sooner—an outbreak of hostilities on a large scale is inevitable. Certainly if a poll of the nation could be taken the consensus of opinion would be found in support of the contention that war is in the offing and this view appears to have crystallized more firmly since the Munich pact was signed.

The great majority of the people of this country hope, of course, that there will be no major conflict in which Canada may or may not become involved, but as the trend of European events and policies since the Munich pact unfold themselves, hope wears thin and yields to dubiety and in turn gives place to unenviable certainty in the minds of many.

With this state of belief prevailing the natural question in sequence is "when?" and this is a question which must await for an answer upon events yet to come and the results of policy which are now being pursued by the nations of the world, and others which may be devised and put into effect in the immediate future. In the light of the many unknown factors involved it would take more than a prophet to give an accurate and reliable answer to the question.

An Unstable Factor

If the first question goes unanswered, it appears almost as difficult to give an unequivocal reply to the other query: "Will Canada be a participant in the next general war?"

It may be stated without fear of contradiction that the majority of the people of this country do not want to participate in any war in which they would adopt the role of aggression, nor are they anxious to have to take up arms as a defensive measure, but in the latter case there may be no choice in the matter. Circumstances, over which this country has no control, might easily arise in a general conflagration, which would force the issue, so far as Canada is concerned. This is a contingency which cannot be overlooked when this question is canvassed.

Apart altogether from such questions as expediency, necessity or even moral obligation, the matter of popular sentiment is an important factor in deciding whether or not a country shall take up arms or in the alternative make concessions to the extent perhaps of great sacrifices to preserve the peace. In an abstract sense the X may be an unknown quantity but it is a stable one. Popular sentiment is not only sometimes an unmeasured yardstick but it is a variable one and subject at times to overnight change. That this is true is shown in comparatively recent public opinion surveys made by the magazine "Fortune" in the United States, on the question whether in the opinion of the people of that country they would be involved in a foreign war. The answer was "yes" by a two to one majority in a survey made in January whereas by more than two to one a similar question was answered in the negative in a survey made before the Peace of Munich.

More significantly illustrative of the change in public opinion in a few months is the answer to the question in Fortune's January survey: "Should the democratic powers, including the U.S., now stand firm together at any cost to prevent Hitler or Mussolini from taking any more territory at the expense of other nations?" The poll, regarded as an accurate cross section of opinion, registered the following result: Yes, 56.3 per cent.; No, 31.0 per cent.; don't know, 12.7 per cent.

Reasonable Defence Measures

It undoubtedly affords Canadians a good deal of satisfaction to know, too, that public opinion in the United States strongly supports the comparatively recent utterances of some of their public leaders to the effect that they would stand idly on the side lines if Canada were attacked by foreign aggressors. This, also was demonstrated in Fortune's January survey when 73.1 per cent. of opinion canvassed expressed willingness to take up arms to protect Canada from invasion.

Canada was a long way from the theatre of war in the 1914-18 conflict, but in another conflict it is quite possible that warfare might be carried to the soil of this country. In such an event it would surely be humiliating to the people of this country if they had to rely entirely upon the friendly feeling of a good and powerful neighbor without being able to strike a blow in their own defence, because they had no means of doing so.

With the world situation as it is to-day and the gloomy outlook overseas it would seem the part of wisdom for Canada to strengthen her defences to at least a reasonable extent.

Bridge Work

New York Patient Exhibits Dental Job At Clinic

We know a girl who has spent the past three months having some very intricate bridge-work installed. The last time she visited the dentist, for a final checkup, he told her, with a good deal of embarrassment, that he had a great favor to ask of her. Seems he was so proud of the job that he wanted to exhibit it at a dental clinic. The girl amiably agreed to appear and says now that it was really lots of fun. She sat on a platform with three or four other dentally notable people, opening her mouth for all comers.

"Do you mind?" they would say, and she'd say, "Not at all." Then they would produce pocket flashlights and peer in at her teeth, with little cries of astonishment. This girl says she'd never had any other feeling just like it.—The New Yorker.

Lower Accident Rate

United States Reduces Accidental Deaths In 1938

The United States sliced accidental deaths to 10,200 from 1937, and the greatest improvement ever recorded in a single year by the National Safety Council announced. The provisional figure was the lowest since 1933. Accident prevention programmes were successful everywhere except in the home. For the first time in a decade home accidents exceeded the nation's traffic deaths.

The council said home accidents increased two per cent. from 32,000 in 1937 to 32,500 last year, while traffic fatalities dropped 19 per cent. from 39,643 in 1937 to 32,000 during 1938. This represented a saving of 7,640 lives.

"The traffic death decline was not due to less travel for motor vehicle mileage was as great in 1938 as the year before," the council explained. Only 35 persons were killed last year in accidents involving scheduled domestic air flights compared with 67 in 1937, a 33 per cent. reduction. Passenger deaths totalled 23, a rate of four deaths per 100,000,000 passenger miles.

Death from steam railroad accidents during the first 10 months last year amounted to 3,752, a decrease of 18 per cent. from the 1937 total of 4,580. The council said the only increase in deaths was for passengers on trains. These soared from 12 to 65 largely because of the Montana train wreck last June.

The council said during 1938 the accidental death rate per 100,000 population was 23, a mark bettered by only six years since 1900.

Court Decision Rendered In England Over Gas Masks

Nearly 40,000 gas masks distributed during last September's crisis over Czechoslovakia were classed as private property in a court decision in England.

A case against a man at Chesterfield was dismissed when the public prosecutor failed to establish his contention a mask was "His Majesty's property" and the defendant should be punished for damaging it. The magistrate, however, said ruined masks probably would not be replaced free of charge by the government in case of war.

Hundreds of masks have been damaged by children, otherwise rendered worthless, or appropriated as souvenirs by tourists.

Strain Of Modern Life

Is Contributing Factor To Heart Ailments States Detroit Doctor

Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, medical health officer of Detroit, said residents of Canada and the United States are living today to end up as heart ailment victims. High tension of modern life is a contributing factor in the high incidence of heart disease, Dr. Vaughan said. "A hundred occurrences in every life are heart strains, and if you become annoyed over some trifling matter, if you are frightened by some near accident; if you race through the day, you are putting a strain on your heart. It is very likely those experiences eventually will wear out the heart."

Hungarian Partridge

Spread Of Mysterious Disease In Game Birds In Western Canada

Delegates to the 10th annual convention of the Alberta Fish and Game Association, were confronted with reports of the spread of a mysterious disease from ruffed grouse to Hungarian partridge and that "very serious concern" was being caused by decline of water in lakes in many parts of western and northern Canada.

Dr. William Rowan, professor of zoology at the University of Alberta, told delegates the mysterious disease which has killed thousands of ruffed grouse in 10-year intervals has taken a heavy toll of Hungarian partridge. The disease, usually fatal, has not been explained, he said. It last occurred in 1937 and could be expected to occur again in 1947.

Winnington-Ingram To Resign As Bishop Of London

The King approved the resignation of Rt. Rev. Arthur Winnington-Ingram as bishop of London, effective Sept. 1. He has held the post since 1901.

The bishop, who at 81 plays squash rackets, said his retirement was not because he is tired of work or is failing in physical or mental vigor. "It is only fair for an old man to make way for a younger man," the bishop said.

At 75 Dr. Winnington-Ingram, playing in a hockey match for the old boys of Radley college against the school team of the day, scored three goals.

Wheat For Palestine

One thousand tons of Canadian wheat (Manitoba) and 500 tons (amber durum) are now on their way to Palestine for a miller in Tel-Aviv. In 1937 Canada exported 412 tons of wheat to Palestine. Imports of Canadian wheat into the Holy Land have varied from 227 tons in 1936 to 71 tons in 1937, and 102 tons in the seven months of 1938 ended July 31. Imports of wheat and flour into Palestine are governed by quotas which are fixed every quarter year, the quotas applying to quantities and not to individual countries.

Coal Mined In Year Would Fill Train 3,000 Miles Long

If all the coal produced in Canada in one year were loaded into freight cars and these strung together the train would reach all the way from Montreal to Vancouver, a distance of nearly 3,000 miles, according to an economist of the Canadian National Railways. Writing on mining in the Canadian National Magazine, he points out that the structural materials—cement, lime, sand and gravel, stone—in last year's mining production, would fill two strings of cars reaching from Montreal to Vancouver, and a train carrying the other non-metallics—silicates, gypsum, quartz, salt, sulphur—would reach from Montreal to Halifax.

If Canada's 1937 copper production were cast in a block the width and height of a railway freight car the block would be nearly three miles long. A similar block of lead would be nearly two miles long and one of the zinc production would be nearly two and a half miles long. The year's silver production would form a slab a foot thick 10 feet wide and nearly 240 feet long. The year's gold would make a block a foot thick, 10 feet wide and almost 24 feet long.

Radio Jottings

Crosby and the Classics

There was a time when opera singers and classical artists were looked upon as scarcely human... they were artists of course, but we couldn't imagine any of them dropping out of character long enough to engage in the every day banter and joking heard on many programs.

Bing Crosby has shown us what Metropolitan stars, classical pianists and others do not take themselves quite as seriously as might be supposed; when he invites such notables to appear on the Kraft Music Hall, all join in the spirit of frivolity and are quite willing to even burlaque their own superb performances.

And it occurs to us that Bing is doing much in the way of promoting classicism to the heights of popularity it justly deserves—not by praise, but by ridicule. When the popular crooner blends his voice with that of an operatic star, he is showing a different side to the character of that star, and is "personalizing" a classical artist in a way never attempted before. As far as your columnists are concerned, Crosby is doing a real job of "popularizing the classics."

Symphony Made Simple

While we're on the subject of classical music, let's admit to ourselves that there are many people who do not care for symphony music; and still others who profess to enjoy it because they feel it gives them a sort of superior air. That's why we're always pleased to hear the comments of Deems Taylor every Sunday after noon on the Philharmonic Symphony broadcast. We happen to like symphony music ourselves (although there was a time when we had no use for it), and we know quite a number of listeners who have grown to appreciate it because they first became interested in the talks by Deems Taylor.

Taylor, an eminent composer and music critic himself, has

Man Who Saved Lives Goes To Poor House

London (B. U. F.)—A man who was responsible for saving the lives of thousands of soldiers during the Great War is now living on charity.

He is F. C. Young, former Sergeant master tailor of the South Staffordshire Regiment who more than 25 years ago invented a simple device which kept soil from getting into the rifles of soldiers on active service. During the early months of the war hundreds of men were killed when their rifles jammed the bolts of their rifles at a crucial moment.

Although his invention was officially adopted by the British army, Young never received a cent. Today he is living in a public assistance home in Devises, Wiltshire.

Suggests Winnipeg As Empire Capital

Winnipeg (CP) — Winnipeg may become the capital of the British Empire. Stanley Shale, a London, representative of the Royal Academy of Music, said here today. He is enroute to Victoria.

"It is very probable that the capital may be transferred from London if war breaks out in Europe, and Winnipeg the safest city on the continent, would be the ideal place for it," he added.

The coldest official temperature recorded here this winter was 40 degrees below zero on February 8th. It was reported that the mercury dropped to 60 below in Pelee River.

the happy faculty of being able to talk in a down-to-earth way on music. He makes symphonic selections something to be enjoyed or not to be enjoyed as one chooses; the "allegretto," and "andantes" and the "vivace" are disregarded, and you become aware that Taylor is speaking to you, and not a group of musicians.
